Governor and Daughter Go Riding

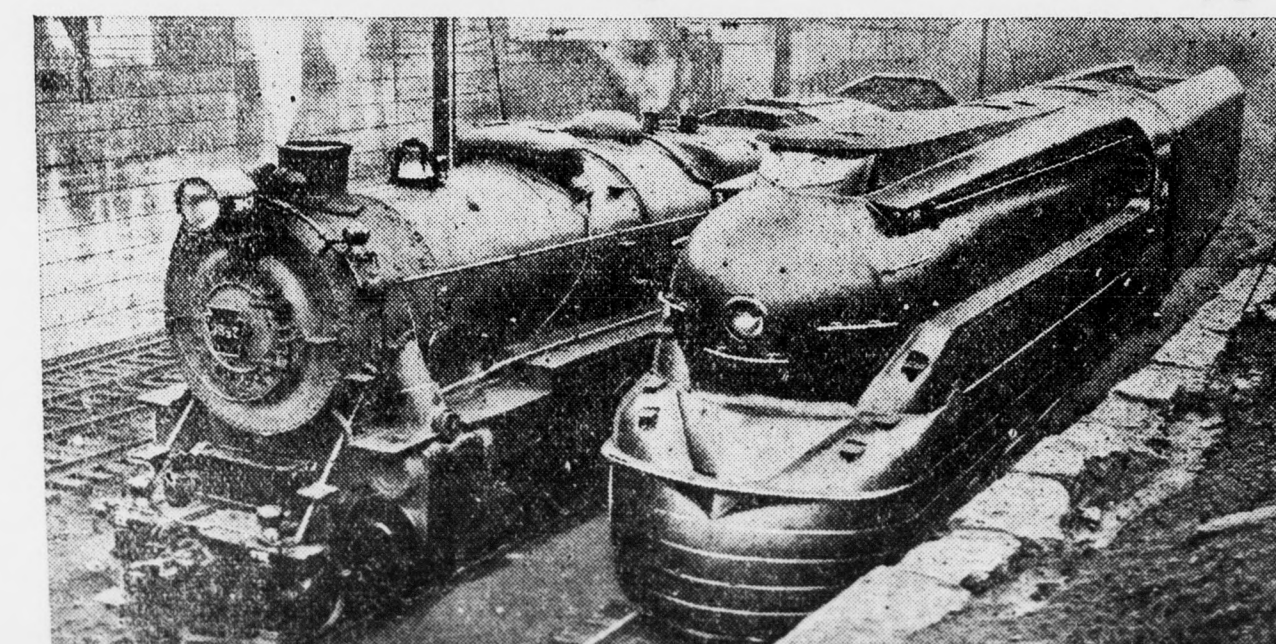

When the curves of his office are not too exciting, Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas turns to the saddle for relaxation. In this snapshot the state executive, who is also one of the outstanding figures among those who are being considered for the Republican presidential nomination, is entering his saddle with his young daughter, Nancy Josephine Landon, age three.

Newest Locomotive Compared With the Old Type

The newest streamlined steam engine of the Pennsylvania railroad is shown here with the old standard heavy-duty engine. The new locomotive, said to be "the most highly perfected and advanced engine design yet produced," is reported to show a reduction of wind resistance. It is reported to show a reduction of one-third in wind resistance at a mile-a-minute speed.

Phil Look Better Than Figures Show 'Cause They Hustle

APPEARANCES—ever gay deceivers—have it again. Right now they are making mugs out of the records and laws of probability by indicating that the Phils are one of the classiest clubs performing in these parts.

It is upon the playing field, rather than upon the stage, that appearances do their best for Jimmy Wilson's young men. In the clubhouse, the Grapefruit league box scores are not impressive.

Phil's hustle, in marked contrast to their Shibe park rivals, they seem almost striving to do the most with their opportunities. Such spirit in itself often enables them to come up with plays that might otherwise seem impossible and even reasonable opportunity for expression, night well win many hard-fought games next summer.

Yet—since Baker bowl has so frequently had a wearing effect upon the brightly-moving springtime favorites—baseball men here hold out little chance of winning the regular season. Even though the pitching must surely be improved over 1935, the Phils lack a punch of the Babe Ruth, Chuck Klein, Jimmy Fox variety.

These eight infielders on the roster. Only one of them, the lefty, who is for Vinland and so on, has a little chance of winning the regular job anyhow—hit better than 200 last year. Leo Norris, the shortstop who served such a long term with Minneapolis, has power. Dolph Camilli, the first baseman, plays a long ball.

The others simply are not good hitters. The sparkling little Jose Gomez, who fields in a manner reminiscent of Hughie Clegg (and who makes double plays fairly), lacks the muscle. The good-looking center fielder, Mike Has, is one of the league's best fighters, and there are Phils who swear that he can hit a home run off any pitcher. But even though he has the muscle and probably times a change of pace as well as any man, his punch is sadly lacking at the plate.

Need Superior Pitching When Lacking Sluggers

Since no one of the catchers, Wilson, Bob Grace or Bill Atwood, the rookies, are notable sluggers, the Phils, thus, must seem to need superior pitching and air-tight defense if they are to clinch out of their accustomed depths.

Undoubtedly they need more than Baker bowl representatives have fielded in the past. Undoubtedly also are two veteran pitchers who are improved, while there are recruits whose forthcoming efforts can be counted on with confidence.

Among the youngsters there is a Pasos, Pasos, relatively given up by the Pirates in the Todd deal. He is one of the most eminent of strike-out artists, having fanned 239 batters in 244 innings while hurling for Charleston in 1934. When the usually self-confident Wilson talks about him, the air is filled with adjectives concerning one of the best fast balls in the business.

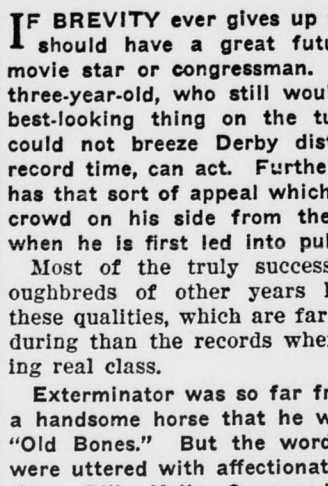

Along with Kelleher, a sturdy young Pennsylvania taxpayer who has a tidy career and fields almost as well as Fred Thompson, the team has no lack of the leavens of another pitcher in the minors. When they have had that they may rank along with Curt Davis in Philadelphia.

That is, of course, if the aging Duke is around Philadelphia at the time. Right now Curt, bigger and better than the star of the Phils, is the star of the Phils.

—although the chance is no more than a slight one—that he is, there is reason to believe that his departure will mean a club's best break.

With Davis in their midst, the Phils will have a 4 to 1 to win the pennant. Fortified with the three fair good young men, the team is obtained for it, the advanced improved Phils would be well, already improved.

The best guess, incidentally, is that the Phils and Phils will get tired of sustaining one another and get together on the deal soon.

Specialist Would Commission Whistler to Paint His Door

Whistler had a French pond of which he was extravagantly fond. This pond was seized with an affection of the throat and Whistler had the audacity to send for the great throat specialist, Sir Morell Mackenzie. The latter, when he discovered that he had been called to treat a dog, didn't like it much. But he said nothing. He prescribed, pocketed a big fee and drove away.

The next day Doctor Mackenzie sent post haste for Whistler, who, thinking he was summoned on some matter connected with his beloved dog, dropped his work and rushed like the wind to the Mackenzie home.

On his arrival Sir Morell said, gravely: "How do you do, Mr. Whistler. I wanted to see you about having my front door painted."—Kansas City Star.
